

Sinclair Broadcasting must not be allowed to distort our free, public airwaves with partisan opinions.

Democracy does not work without truthful, unbiased and responsible journalism.

Airing an anti-Kerry documentary, such as "Stolen Honor: Wounds that Never Heal" just prior to the presidential election is a clear violation of federal election law and a violation of a broadcaster's duty of non-partisan reporting to the public.

Have we lost sight of the equal time rule? Truth and integrity in Journalism? Democracy? At the very least, if Sinclair does air an anti-Kerry documentary they should be obliged to air a pro- Kerry documentary, such as "Upriver". Or an anti-Bush documentary such as, well, take your pick.

I, as a concerned citizen and believer in democracy, urge you to hold Sinclair Broadcasting accountable. Do not let them commit illegal electioneering by participating in such blatant smear tactics.

Thank you,
